

RISE Up 12-Point Industry Credential

Butler Tech is offering the RISE Up Credential to associate school students who need a graduation pathway. RISE Up is the National Retail Federation (NRF) foundation training and credentialing program that provides foundational employability skills to help people land jobs and get promoted in the retail industry and beyond.

We are excited to offer this opportunity for students to earn a 12-point industry credential. The credential is called RISE Up. This opportunity is for students who need a pathway to graduate or desire to earn a credential. Successful completion of this credential combined with other requirements as laid out by ODE (i.e., the OMJ Job Readiness Seal) will allow them to graduate under current graduation requirements.

The RISE Up course can be delivered 100% online. We are currently working on a hybrid model approach that we will offer in June as long as we have at least 10 students signed up for the course.

We estimate the total time required to complete both sections of the course at 25-30 hours. The course has two components, with part one focusing on Retail Industry Fundamentals and the second on Customer Service. Each component will have a test. The test for the Retail Industry Fundamentals can be taken without a proctor. This assessment consists of 3 tests composed of 17 questions that are fairly straight forward-you either know it or don't. The assessment does not have a time limit. The Customer Service test is 76 questions, requires an in-person proctor, and has a 90-minute time limit. We advise that students receive some direct instruction to support the Customer Service section due to the nature of the test. This test requires students to make decisions, given scenarios that require more critical thinking and problem-solving. In other words, they have to choose the best answer among 2-3 seemingly "right" answers.
